

County Protests Action

Annexation of 214.7 acres of Smithfield Township by East Stroudsburg hit a snag yesterday.

County commissioners filed a protest with the court through county solicitor James T. Kitson.

The protest said in effect that the county was against the annexation unless the State Council of Education would also approve transfer of the annexed territory from Smithfield to East Stroudsburg School District.

If this were not done, commissioners foresaw legal difficulties, extra expense and confusion.

Kitson made it clear that Commissioners Amos F. Altenose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer were neutral so far as the annexation itself was concerned.

What did concern commissioners was what would happen to the county's book if residents in the 215 acres were in East Stroudsburg election district and at the same time in Smithfield School District.

There are about 12 families in the section, some with children of school age.

Problems which could arise from the annexation of the election district only are these:

One—would it be proper to require a resident to support Smithfield's school district with taxes while denying him the opportunity of voting for Smithfield school directors? And contrariwise, would it be proper to allow a resident to vote for East Stroudsburg school directors if he was not supporting East Stroudsburg School District with taxes?

Two—how much would it cost the county to set up a whole new election district to enable residents to vote for Smithfield directors and pay school taxes to Smithfield, while electing East Stroudsburg borough officials and paying borough taxes?

Said the complaint filed by Kitson:

"Unless the proposed annexation is approved by the State Council of Education, the territory will be located within the boundaries of the borough of East Stroudsburg; within the boundaries of East Stroudsburg election district; and within the boundaries of Smithfield Township School District.

"This will interfere with the proper and economical conduct of elections, and assessment and collection of taxes, and will cause additional and unnecessary expense to the county.

"Further, the proceedings should indicate to which election district or districts this territory is to be attached."

The proceedings to annex were filed in court Dec. 9.

Post Exchange Short $36,000

Indiantown Gap (AP)—Military authorities here yesterday disclosed a $36,000 cash and merchandise shortage in the accounts of the Schuylkill Arsenal Post Exchange in Philadelphia.

In making the disclosure, Brig. Gen. Theodore L. Futch, chief of the Pennsylvania Military District, said Maj. Frederick Griffiths, 36, has been charged with larceny and issuing false statements.

Maj. Griffiths headed the post exchange division of the installation from last January until September.

"The accounts of the post exchange at the arsenal were found to be short some $36,000 in cash and merchandise after an investigation begun last September," Gen. Futch said.

Airplane Crashes On House Roof; Pilot Escapes

Muncy, (AP)—A 20-year-old Civil Air Patrol pilot was forced to crash his single-engine aircraft into the roof of a downtown dwelling here yesterday when the engine failed.

Ronald Neece, of Montoursville, climbed from the cabin of the Aerona plane which had borrowed itself into the attic of the Neal Nuss dwelling and walked down two flights of stairs to the ground floor for assistance.

He suffered only slight lacerations of the head.

Several persons were reported inside the house on the ground floor when the plane smashed through the attic roof. No one in the building was injured.

Fugitive Arrested

Washington, (AP)—Chester Lee Davenport, sought by the FBI as one of its 10 most wanted fugitives, was arrested yesterday near Dixon, Calif., as he sat down to milk a cow.

HARRY A. BARBOUR, 61, former U.S. housing official in Richmond, Calif., told reporters how he disappeared after writing a suicide note five years ago. He said he left his wife and two small daughters on Nov. 8, 1948, with the intention of committing suicide because "I thought I was going blind." Barbour was located in Glassmanor, Md., where he has been living with his family since last November.

Hayden Acts To Restrict Investigators

Washington (AP)—Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.) urged the Senate yesterday to guard against "waste and extravagance" in its investigations.

He took his stand at the outset of a prospective new wave of congressional spy-hunting probes.

Hayden told the Senate he will invoke a long-dormant rule to force a delay of at least one day—thereby providing time for debate—before the chamber acts on proposals for investigations.

The Arizona Democrat's move came as Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) asked the Senate for $170,000 in new funds to carry on his Senate Internal Security Subcommittee's investigations of communism.

Jenner beat Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to the punch in introducing his resolution for new funds. McCarthy has said he plans to ask an increase over the $200,000 allotted to his Senate Investigations subcommittee for last year.

Jenner's request for $170,000 is $20,000 more than his subcommittee received in 1953.

Powers Held In Balance, Says General

Paris, (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said yesterday the world's uneasy peace is balanced between Russia's military superiority and the West's ability to deliver crushing air blows to Soviet industry.

"We still do not have enough forces in any area, particularly the central area, to meet an all-out Soviet offensive," the supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, said, "but neither do the Soviets have the capability to defend themselves from an aerial attack on their industrial potential."

Reviewing accomplishments of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in the three years since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived to head SHAPE in 1951, Gruenther told the American Club, a group of U. S. businessmen here, that important progress has been made in long range air power.

"We have the capability to be able to wreak a great deal of damage on Soviet industrial potential and they are unable to meet this development at this time," he said.

NATO, a defensive alliance of 14 nations, actually has no long range bombers within its military command. In case of war, they presumably might be made available to the organization by the U. S. Strategic Air Command.

Runaway Lovers Married After Bride's Wealthy Father Agrees To Lift Court Ban

By Stanley Godfrey
Kelso, Scotland, (AP)—Love triumphed last night for Isabella Patino and Jimmy Goldsmith, the runaway romancers.

The 18-year-old Bolivian tin heiress and her dashing English fiancé, 20, were married in this picturesque border village seven hours after her father, multi-millionaire Antonio Patino, withdrew a court ban in Edinburgh against their marriage. The couple exchanged vows and embraced.

Mr. and Mrs. Patino dashed to Scotland from Paris last week in a vain attempt to find Isabella and talk her into changing her mind. They did not attend the simple 15-minute ceremony in the Kelso registry office. But a crowd of villagers gave the young couple a hearty sendoff as they stepped out, smiling and holding hands.

President Submits Blueprint Of Program For Stronger America

U. N. Demands Release Of 22,000 POWs

By William C. Barnard
Seoul, Friday, (AP)—Allied and Communist replies to a highly secret Indian memorandum carried the two commands closer to a showdown today over the status of 22,000 Chinese and Red Korean prisoners who refuse to go home.

The Communists demanded that "come-home" explanations be resumed to the prisoners and that all refusing repatriation be held in neutral custody until some indefinite time when a peace conference deals with them.

The U. N. Command restated its insistence that all prisoners must be released to civilian status Jan. 23.

Gen. John E. Hull, Far East commander, told the chief Indian custodian that he saw no need to discuss this matter further with "any other agency."

The Red answer was delivered shortly before last midnight at Pannunjom.

It quoted the Indian memorandum as saying armistice terms were not specific "about custody by Indian troops coming to an end." The Reds insisted that a majority of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission agreed with them.

Hull's answer was delivered Wednesday to Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the neutral group. It was not made public until today, hours after the Chinese Red Peiping radio had broadcast details of Thimayya's confidential letter of Jan. 2 to the two commands.

The U. N. commander said he would not consider "reopening or continuance" of the prisoner explanations.

He said he could not speak authoritatively on the convening of a Korean peace conference but that the Communist attitude made such a conference before Jan. 22 "extremely improbable."

Hull said the Allied command saw "no justification" for further discussions "with any other agency" on the prisoners.

Then the general spelled out the armistice "terms of reference fix the responsibility of the custodian force, India, for holding the POWs as expiring at 12:01 a.m. Jan. 23, 1954."

State Director Of Parole Named

Harrisburg (AP)—Arthur T. Prasse, Pennsylvania commissioner of correction, yesterday announced the appointment of Angelo Cavelli, Erie, as director of parole in the Department of Justice.

The post pays $7,500 a year.

Prasse said Cavelli's job will be to coordinate all pre-release activities at the commonwealth's seven penal institutions.

The job is a new one created by Prasse under Pennsylvania's prison system reorganization.

Building Collapses

Charleston, W. Va., (AP)—A two-story brick building at a busy downtown intersection swayed, cracked open and then collapsed in a cloud of dust during the noon rush yesterday. Nobody was hurt.

375 Persons Donate To Polio Drive

The first batch of March of Dimes coin envelopes were opened yesterday at chapter headquarters. Contributions totaled $715.50.

Campaign Chairman Richard R. Fredenberg called the result "surprising and encouraging."

He pointed out that a total of 375 envelopes accounted for the sum.

This was an average contribution of $1.90 per envelope.

The March of Dime contribution envelopes are the backbone of the campaign. Some 8,700 have been sent out to county residents.

Yesterday's envelopes constituted about 4 per cent of the total sent out.

The contributions in them totaled about 4 per cent of the $16,000 goal established for the county this year.

Mrs. William Marean of Stroudsburg is serving as chairman of the March of Dimes envelopes committee.

Billy Rose Wins Marital Freedom At $500,000 Cost

New York, (AP)—Billy Rose finally won his freedom from Eleanor Holm yesterday, digging into his fabulous bankroll for $300,000 a year alimony plus a $200,000 settlement. They agreed to divorce before summer.

The dark-haired former American swimming queen thus ends a 15-year marriage to the Broadway showman with a guaranteed $500,000 over the next 10 years—provided she does not remarry.

The couple worked out their cease-fire two weeks ago over a midnight cup of coffee in Billy's Beekman Place mansion—and thus halted Broadway's sensational two-year "war of the Roses."

"Too bad neither of us had sense enough to have that cup of coffee 24 months ago," lamented Billy.

Highlights Of Eisenhower's Message On State Of Union

Washington, (AP)—Here are some of the high spots of the policies advocated in President Eisenhower's State of the Union message:

Foreign Affairs—Continued firm support of the United Nations, of the "cause of freedom on foreign fronts," of the drive for a united Europe.

Readiness to "meet any renewal of armed aggression in Korea."

Foreign Aid—Continued military assistance to friendly nations, with the Secretary of Defense in charge of the program; economic aid on a reduced scale.

Defense—Determination to use atomic power "to serve the usages of peace" but preparedness to employ nuclear weapons "against an aggressor if they are needed to preserve our freedom."

"Heavy emphasis" on air power and "economies in the use of men," "more generous benefit" for personnel of the armed forces.

Build the St. Lawrence seaway "for security as well as economic reasons."

Communism in U. S.—Take American citizenship away from persons convicted "of heretofore conspiring to advocate the overthrow of this government by force or violence."

Anti-Recession Steps—"Economic preparedness" to "develop a climate assuring steady economic growth."

The Budget—A five billion dollar cut in spending in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1954, bringing the budget "closer to a balance."

An increase in the present 275 billion dollar national debt limit.

Taxes—Further tax cuts "as additional reductions in expenditures are brought gradually but rely into sight;" more liberal tax treatment for dependent children who work, for widows with dependent children, for medical expenses, for businesses wishing to expand or modernize.

Cancel tax cuts due April 1 on corporate income, liquor, tobacco, gasoline and automobiles.

Farm—A gradual change to flexible price supports to "stimulate consumption" of products flooding the markets and spur production of needed commodities.

"Insulate" farm surpluses so they won't depress the market; use them for stockpiling, school lunches, disaster relief, foreign aid.

Postal Rates—Pass a pending bill, which raises postal rates a quarter billion dollars a year; the cost of a first class letter would rise from three to four cents.

Labor and Welfare—Change the Taft-Hartley Act to "reinforce the basis objectives."

Extend old age insurance to 10 million more persons, and gradually reduce relief grants.

Health—Avoid "socialization of medicine;" encourage medical research; assist in developing facilities for the chronically ill, diagnostic centers, etc.; set up a re-insurance system to enable private health insurance plans to expand.

Education—Assist states unable to afford sufficient schools; call state and national conferences to study the education problem.

Housing—"Enlarge and improve the opportunities for our people to acquire good homes."

Suffrage—"I urge the Congress to propose to the states a constitutional amendment permitting citizens to vote when they reach the age of 18."

Blizzards, Floods Turn Full Fury On Italian Towns

London, (AP)—Beset by an Adriatic flood which laid waste six villages in the Po River delta, Italy braced yesterday for new perils from the north. Wind-whipped blizzards, swirling across Western Europe, isolated dozens of Alpine hamlets.

The snows lashed parts of Britain, France and Holland, blanketed West Germany and Sweden and turned their full force on Italy, cutting off many villages in the Italian Alps and the Apennines. Crippling snows also were reported in Yugoslavia.

Crop-killing salt tides driving in from the Adriatic subsided and Italian emergency crews had time to sandbag the broken dikes in the Po delta. Wednesday's flood waters ruined great areas of rich farmland, however, and fishermen suffered big losses in boats and gear.

Soldier Killed While Trying To Protect Buddy

Fl. Dix, N. J. (AP)—Sgt. Leonard Moran of South Boston, Mass., who won a Combat Infantry Badge and three battle stars in Korea, died yesterday after protecting a trainee from a grenade explosion with his body.

Army authorities said the 22-year-old Korean War veteran, an instructor with the 34th Field Artillery Battalion, had been on a maneuver, using live grenades, with Pvt. John D. O'Callaghan, 20, of New York, the trainee.

O'Callaghan apparently tried to throw a grenade out of a trench, but it hit the bank and fell back into the pit with the two men. Moran tried to kick the grenade out of the trench, but it exploded and its charge hit him over the entire body. O'Callaghan was slightly wounded.

Ike Declares U.S. Must Be Prepared To Use Atom Bomb

By Douglas B. Cornell
Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower laid before a questionmark Congress yesterday a massive program aimed, he said, at building a "stronger America."

In a 7,000-word State of the Union message, he declared the nation must pursue peace from a position of military and economic strength, but is prepared to use atomic weapons if need be "to preserve our freedom."

On the domestic front, his proposals ranged from revision of farm, labor, social security, housing and tax laws to demands for the vote for 18-year-olds and a proposal to strip American citizenship from Communists convicted of conspiring, hereafter, to overthrow the government by force.

On the ever-lively issue of taxes he called for postponement of reductions in corporation income and excise levies scheduled for April 1, but pledged more cuts later as new economies take effect.

Senate and House members, meeting together in the House chamber, broke into rebel yells and war whoops and their heaviest measure of applause at Eisenhower's proposal to deprive Communist conspirators of American citizenship.

They beat their hands, too, when the President declared that 18-year-olds ought to be allowed to vote since they "are summoned to fight for America." Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) rushed back to the Senate and introduced the necessary constitutional amendment.

Eisenhower held out to the people hopes of more "substantial" social security benefits, "sound" farm program and changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

He asked Congress to approve the sharing with allies of knowledge of how to use atomic weapons for combat purposes. Several key Congress members said they would go along.

While the blueprint for the months ahead won't let the budget be balanced yet, it called for a five billion dollar cut in federal spending in the next fiscal year to help tilt the scales in that direction.

Television and radio relayed the President's words to the nation as he spoke to Congress in person. Through the Voice of America the message is being spread before an estimated audience of 45 million persons in foreign lands.

The great goal, the President said, is "the building of a stronger America," an America at peace, strong in freedom and a growing economy, and dedicated to solving the human problems of its citizens.

In that, there was nothing with which the lawmakers could disagree.

But congressional question marks hung over the methods by which the chief executive proposes to make the nation strong.

Even as they listened to those details Eisenhower chose to disclose yesterday—more will come along in a long series of later messages—many legislators kept fingers crossed.

On taxes, Eisenhower said that further reductions can and will be made when additional cuts in spending come definitely within sight. Yet he asked Congress to hold off the decreases in corporation income levies and taxes on such things as liquor and gasoline, now set for April 1.

That last suggestion brought immediate blasts from four Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax bills get their start in Congress.

Eisenhower placed economic preparedness alongside military preparedness in importance to the nation and brought out in general terms a plan to combat depression.

Walter Seeking Reelection; Blasts Opponents For Basing Campaign On Immigration Act

U. S. Rep. Francis E. Walter asserted yesterday that he will seek re-election to Congress in the Fall of this year.

At the same time Walter charged that his political opponents are trying to turn the McCarran-Walter immigration act into a major campaign issue of the 1954 election.

Walter, who has served 11 consecutive two-year terms as U. S. representative from Pennsylvania's 15th District (Monroe-Northampton-Carbon), directed his charge at area Republican leaders.

These leaders, Walter said, are attempting to make the bill of which he was co-author the "big issue" and "are organizing minority groups to oppose" him.

Walter said he would not permit the bill to become the issue, however.

"Of course, it won't be the issue," he said. "The vast majority of the American people believe it is a good law."

"The real issue is going to be the question of whether or not I have fulfilled my duties as a legislator, whether or not my record and the position I occupy justify my reelection," he continued.

Both Republicans and Democrats serving on congressional immigration committees had voted for the McCarran-Walter bill, the congressman said, and for this reason alone, it should not become a political issue.

Turning his attention to a broader political plane, Rep. Walter said the 1954 national campaign will depend on the manner in which the Eisenhower administration's policies are developed.

Rep. Walter called Monday night's Eisenhower radio-TV speech "terribly disappointing" and termed it nothing but "15 minutes of platitudes."

Democrats, however, should not make the mistake of needlessly opposing administration proposals. Good measures, he said, should be supported by both parties.

Application of the McCarran-Walter Act to the local political scene was also made in the 1952 election. Attacks on the legislation were circulated in the mails and received locally by many residents.

On the national scene, the immigration law has come under attack in several areas—generally metropolitan in nature—during election campaigns.

William F. Altomare Jr. is director of the local organization.

Reactivated Health Board Reports Progress In First Year

Activities Outlined For Council

First annual report of Stroudsburg's reactivated Board of Health demonstrated to Borough Council this week that the board has embarked on a new era designed to gain respect for health laws and regulations.

The report showed the board has achieved a very considerable advance by normal activity in most instances, and enforcement through prosecutions in others.

Submitted by Mrs. Shirley Cummings, N. Fifth St., board secretary, the report disclosed that on reactivation the board learned once a month meetings were insufficient to properly revitalize the public health program. The board has been meeting twice a month, and sometimes three times in order to establish and enforce policies, revise and modernize forms, and to deal with matters requiring prompt decision.

At a recent reorganization of the board, Raymond H. Frantz, 1103 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, was elected president; Mrs. E. C. Pyle, Colbert St., vice president, and Mrs. Cummings, secretary. Ralph Bender, Phillips St., is the other board member and Samuel Van Gordon is the health officer.

One of the major problems handled by the board was enforcement of connections with sanitary sewers. Eleven property owners were dealt with in this matter.

Second major problem was enforcement of health examinations by food handlers and returns of proper health cards. All cards had to be signed by a physician and each person is required to have a chest X-ray.

Mrs. Cummings said 471 cards were collected. That figure is three times more than any previous collection. In the process, prosecutions and penalties were inflicted by the board under Ordinance 346 against a physician, an employee and a client.

The board announced that January health cards are now overdue from food handlers in Stroudsburg. Those who have not submitted their cards are to deliver them to Health Officer Samuel Van Gordon, 757 Main St., the board directed.

Board met recently with the Monroe County Medical Society to work out an improved health card to require one physical examination a year and two chest X-rays. Recommendations will be made to council in this matter so the new system will be effective July 1, Mrs. Cummings reported.

The board has recommended that an ordinance be drafted requiring licenses for hotels, tourist homes, motels and cabins. Such regulations exist in many states, including New York.

Board also met with dentists of the community, East Stroudsburg Health Board and district health officers to discuss fluoridation of water supplies. Both dentists and medical society have endorsed the project.

A request that an emergency fund be given the board to handle various expenses connected with water tests, bulkage, calls, etc., was granted by council. The sum of $125 was set up for this purpose.

Green Coffee Prices Mount

New York, (AP)—Soaring quotations for green coffee, the result of tight world supplies, have pushed retail coffee prices to around $1 a pound.

Some brands of coffee already are selling at $1 or more per pound. Others will reach that point when the latest wholesale increases are passed on to the consumer.

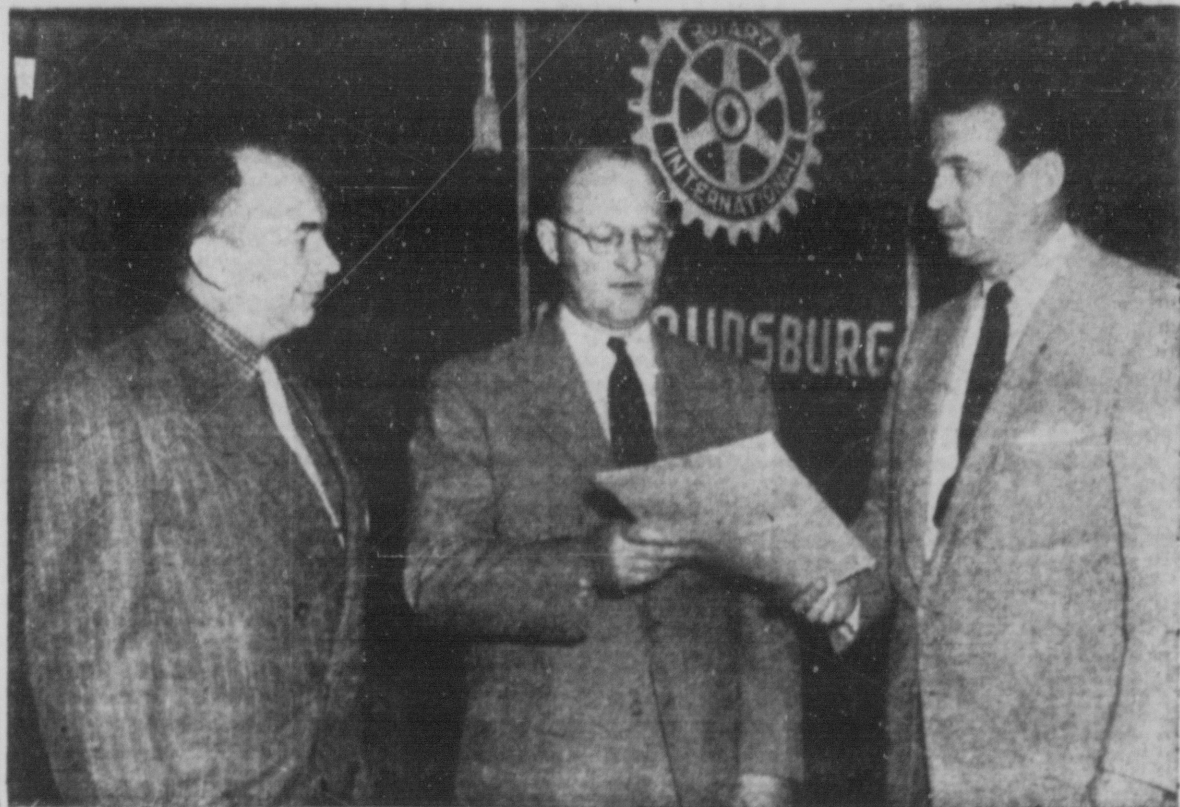

Restaurant operators in the New York area admitted they have discussed raising the price of a cup of coffee to as high as 15 cents. However, an executive of a leading restaurant chain declared that "not under any circumstances will we raise the price." Other chains said they had no plans at present for upping the price.

Record Of No Traffic Deaths Maintained

The Borough of Stroudsburg, despite terrific traffic control problems, went through 1953 without a single traffic fatality. It was the third consecutive year there were no pedestrian or motor vehicle fatalities.

Chief of Police James F. McConnell's annual report showed his force investigated 162 accident cases. Seventy-three of this number involved damages under $100 and 89 had damages over $100.

Total accidents were 16 higher than they were during 1952, McConnell said.

Five pedestrians were slightly injured by motor vehicles during 1953. They included three women, one child and a man.

Four children ranging from four and a half to 16 years were injured while riding bicycles in the borough.

One other accident investigated by police involved a 61 year old woman who fell on a sidewalk.

McConnell's report showed police also investigated damages to six parking meters. He said settlement has been made or is in process of being made for five meters, while one was damaged by an unknown person. One stop sign and a no parking sign were damaged by unknowns, the officer reported.

Other duties performed by the police department included:

Serving notices on property owners to lay curb and gutter on Scott St. and Bell Terrace and service on property owners to connect to the sanitary sewer system.

Police also conducted a survey for council to determine the amount of damages to properties on the east side of Brodheads Creek caused by heavy rains and overflowing of stream banks on Dec. 8 and 10, 1952.

This survey plus photographs has been submitted to Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in support of a project for flood control work along the stream banks.

Pleasant Valley Joint Board Committee To Discuss Cost Of Proposed School Building

Brodheadsville—Pleasant Valley Joint School Board met last night at Chestnut Hill High School here.

Both Ross and Eldred Townships reported their new board members had been duly sworn in. Mrs. Muriel Hildabrant, the new Ross member, was in attendance.

Archie Craig, the new member from Eldred, was not in attendance. Board members were presented with three bids for wet-and-dry vacuum cleaners. Bids were submitted in answer to specifications from the board. Three machines are needed. All bids met specifications, the board said.

Bids were as follows: American Flooring and Surfacing Machine Co., Stroudsburg RD 2—$146.55 each or $439.66 for all three machines.

Phillip B. Hughes and Sons, Baltimore Ave., Philadelphia—$149.50 each or $448.50 for all three. Bullen Chemical Co., Folcroft, Pa.—$189.83 each or $569.59 for all three machines.

Board members discussed whether to purchase the machine. Mrs. Corona Keiser, Hamilton, made a motion to accept the low bid. The motion was seconded by Charles Allen Frantz, Eldred.

A vote was taken. The board decided 11 to 7 to throw out all three bids, disregarding the low bid, and ask for new bids on a "heavier machine."

A representative of the Hughes firm was present in the meeting room when the bids were opened. He was allowed to discuss his machine and services provided by his company.

No other sales representatives were present at the meeting.

In other actions, the board set Jan. 12 as the date for a special meeting of the board's architect committee. A discussion of possible lower cost in building the jointure's proposed secondary school building will be heard at that time.

The financial statement showed the following payments into the jointure: Polk: $18,553.01; Hamilton: $17,374.86; Chestnut Hill: $17,269.28; Eldred: $12,101.29; Ross: $8,548.16.

Balance on hand and total receipts for the beginning of the new year were $25,560.24, the statement said.

A total of $24,225.53 in expenditures were listed for the current

Fatal Habit

People sometimes seem to be so bent on killing themselves that our finest inventions can't keep up with them. Twice in one year a Seattle couple, fond of smoking in bed, had their lives saved by oxygen equipment when neighbors smelled the burning bed-clothing and turned in alarms. The third time, in the same hotel room, firemen got there too late.

In the last five years, about 1500 Americans have died as a result of smoking in bed and 1300 others from other types of smoking carelessness, such as dropping off to sleep in well-upholstered chairs with a cigarette in their hands.

A cigarette may be a pleasant thing, but hardly worth dying for.

People who want tobacco in bed should take up chewing it, or trying a pinch of snuff.

Prettier Stamps

The special postage stamps our Government issues are mediocre at best, and some of them have been artistic monstrosities, as we pointed out a couple of times before on the dreadful commemorative stamp honoring some industry or other.

Now Postmaster General Summerfield, we are pleased to note, is investigating the possibility that new printing techniques might be used to make our stamps more attractive and more colorful.

Stamps now are produced from hand-engraved steel plates, and the experts who do that work in Washington are, naturally, protesting any change that will mean loss of their jobs.

Economy will be the governing factor in the matter, presumably, and it should be. But there must be some way for the United States to produce more artistic postage stamps without its costing any more than the present system—and we hope Mr. Summerfield finds it.

Long Road To Cancer Cure

Recent reports on cancer research indicate science now is hopeful it is on the road to substantial results.

One report, given at a meeting of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, goes so far as to forecast "major developments" within the next 10 years in the treatment of cancer.

"Some degree of solution of the cancer problem now appears to be a fully attainable goal," asserts Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoads, director of the Memorial Center for Cancer Research.

The scientists make no guarantees. They say there is a long road ahead. But they think they are on the right road.

The hopeful thing about the war on cancer, which snuffs out so many lives, is the tremendous volume of research now going on all over the country—in universities, hospitals, laboratories and among drug and chemical companies. The disease is being attacked on a wide front.

Inevitably, such a concentrated and resourceful onslaught will lead to results.

Meanwhile, since early discovery of the disease is so important to treatment, frequent medical checkups are the best insurance against it.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

BABY, IT'S "CODE" OUTSIDE Dear Hollywood Movie Producers

I see where you are holding special meetings to water down the code governing production of movies, and I hope you can find it.

You know how it is with codes. They get lost easily. Yours was adopted 23 years ago and was reported missing almost at once. Now I read that you propose to widen it, loosen it up and make it bummer around the knees. If you have trouble locating this old decency code, let me know as I am good at recovering lost articles. (Have you looked on the high shelf away back in the dark corner with the old Theda Bara prints?)

Well, I would hate to see Hollywood get all set to remodel its code and not be able to locate it, or even find out which way it went. I remember you had a code to protect the home and the kids from getting too much education on life in the raw, but, sitting over my buttered popcorn and watching a lot of movies, I thought it had been forgotten by Hollywood. By boy! Egbert, aged 12, knows the complete routine for muggings, stickups, etc. My little girl Jennie, aged 9, is help to the technicians of Cleopatra, Salome, Klondike Nell and "The Lady That's Known as Lou." (The baby, aged 4, is a little slow handling a gun, but he is coming along.) You could have knocked me and the wife over with a popcorn box when we heard that Hollywood wanted more latitude. We are such fools that we had been under the impression it needed more latitude like it needs a hole in its head.

Like I say, I thought the code had got lost years ago, but a friend of mine, who is a museum worker, says he found a buried copy and that it includes: (1) No picture shall be produced which lowers the moral standards; (2) The sanctity of marriage and the home shall be upheld; (3) Details of crime suggestive of slaughter and the display of weapons classified as illegal in the hands of gangsters shall be forbidden; (4) Pictures shall not indicate that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted thing. Well, I have not noticed Hollywood falling over backward to keep any such code. Could it be that in calling for more latitude Hollywood is just opening the 1954 season on a note of high comedy?

I notice that Sam Goldwyn wants more latitude on the ground "movie audiences have reached greater maturity." He is so right. Millions of kids and easily influenced adults have become so accustomed to crime, sex angles that they have graduated from "c" to "A" maturity. Maturity marches on, eh boys? Also a couple of producers who care more for money than what happens to the mind of a child have just thumbed their nose at whatever code Hollywood has, and instead of fighting the trend, the suggestion is that it surrender to the "box office first" women and children last" motif. It is like saying that because some people violate the law the thing to do is to change the laws. If standards have become cheapened, cheapen 'em some more. Well, happy days, boys! From everybody except parents, educators, cops, churches, child-welfare workers, garts and maybe that Senate Committee. It doesn't seem too bright.

Yours for latitude and longitude, ELMER.

Modern marriage form: "Do you take this woman for better or for Fort Knox?" ... Two chimpanzees were exhibited and studied at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. ... This seemed a rather hopeful happening. ... The chimpanzees didn't have quite the same wild-eyed scared look with all human beings today and it was cheering to note that while they had their mouths open nothing came out to upset apple carts. ... It seemed to us that the ones displayed these advantages over humans: (1) They screamed when held before a TV commercial more than 30 seconds; (2) They seemed content to do what they could for science without advising witnesses how to behave before a Senate subcommittee; (3) They didn't slug each other at any time during the convention. ... Let's have more chimpanzees to help us humans over the rough spots! ... Governor Dewey wants a law prohibiting switchknives and we hope he gets it. "He is not seeking a law which makes possession illegal as there are thousands of people who would have to dispose of them," a newspaper says. ... Okay, what is so wrong about getting 'em all disposed of?

More U. S. Divisions To Be Withdrawn From Korea

Washington — Additional American divisions will be withdrawn from Korea.

As in the case of the two divisions President Eisenhower has already announced will be recalled from the Far East, the other units will also be replaced by new South Korean divisions and more atomic weapons.

Last December 20 and on January 1 this column disclosed:

That a number of atomic cannons will be sent to Japan as substitutes for the two departing divisions; also, that before leaving, these divisions will turn over their arms and other battle gear to the ROKs to enable them to activate new divisions. Lack of weapons is blocking that.

The same replacement plan will be followed on the additional American forces, that will be brought home.

The intention to do the latter was revealed by President Eisenhower at his conference with congressional leaders on the administration's foreign and military policies. The carefully-guarded plan was the sensation of the White House meeting.

Other far-reaching policies outlined to the legislative chiefs by the President are:

U. S. military strategy is undergoing sweeping revision, so that henceforth this country will rely on "destructive power" (atomic weapons) rather than on manpower to fulfill commitments throughout the world.

U. S. troops will either be withdrawn completely or sharply reduced in areas which cannot be effectively defended in the event of all-out war. Korea falls in that category. That's why more American divisions will be pulled out of there when conditions permit. It is hoped as many as four divisions can be replaced by ROK forces by July 1955. Tentative schedules call for increasing the present ROK army of 16 divisions to 20 by that date.

By means of this "disengagement" program and relying increasingly on atomic weapons instead of troops, the Administration hopes to reduce the Army to around 1,000,000 by July 1956. Present U. S. Army strength is 1,450,000.

Brighter outlook—Keynote of this White House parley was the attitude of confidence displayed by the President and his lieutenants that there is no immediate danger of war.

Secretary of State Dulles was unequivocal about that.

"There will be no overt aggression by the Communists in 1954," he asserted flatly. "All our intelligence reports indicate the Reds are retrenching, virtually everywhere and will continue to do so throughout the year."

"What about Indo-China?" asked a House leader. "The Communists seem to be doing no retrenching there; from all accounts they are extremely aggressive."

"We don't believe that situation is really serious," Dulles replied firmly. "Actually, the French are much stronger than they were six months ago. That will soon show up in the fighting. We have no reason for any genuine alarm regarding Indo-China."

"Well, just in case you should be wrong and the French should collapse," a senator said, "what happens then? Do we send troops; bomb China, or what?"

There was silence for a few moments. Dulles looked at the President and Defense Secretary Wilson, but they said nothing.

Finally Dulles replied, "I would rather not answer that question at this time."

The Secretary of State resumed his positive tone in discussing Korea.

"No new fighting will break out there," he asserted in reply to a question. "The Communists have no intention of resuming the war and we have every confidence President Syngman Rhee won't either, despite his tragic talk at times. The South Korean people are overwhelmingly for peace. They are very war weary and want no more of it if they are not molested."

Dulles also disclosed the Kremlin's agreement to discuss the President's proposal for an international uranium pool came sooner than had been expected.

"The Russians have indicated they are genuinely interested in conferring on this matter," Dulles said. "Whether anything will come of these talks is a guess. It's always conjectural what they will or won't do. But I plan to use every opportunity to explore the matter at the coming Foreign Ministers conference in Berlin."

Secretary Wilson reiterated his frequently-voiced contention that the Administration's budget cutting is giving the nation "more defense for less spending." He was warmly supported on that by the President.

"Our policy to rely more on destructive power in the form of atomic weapons," the President told the congressional leaders, "is making it possible to reduce the Army and thus effect very considerable economies without in any way impairing the military strength of the nation."

Nearly all of the uranium, natural rubber, manganese, industrial diamonds, chrome, cobalt, nickel and tin used in the United States are imported.

More than 40 billion gallons of gasoline were used in the United States in 1952.

In 1900, in Mexico, two per cent of the people owned 70 per cent of the land.

The widest river in the world is the Amazon in South America.

Subversives, Spies, Communists Want To Eliminate Jenner-McCarthy Groups

It is only natural that the subversives, spies, Communists, fellow-travelers and those officials who by mistake or neglect permitted them to enter the Government and remain there should do everything to protect themselves. They have a vested interest in the elimination of the Jenner and McCarthy Committees, which have only scratched the surface of infiltration by Kremlin agents.

For instance, by accident, the McCarthy Committee moved into Fort Monmouth and discovered a nest of subversion and espionage organized by Julius Rosenberg. The difficulty in this investigation is hard to get at. While espionage is so clear as to be on the surface, the investigators are practically shut out from getting at further data when the spy pleads the Fifth Amendment.

And the plea of the Fifth Amendment is made without regard to fitness. The Senate, to uphold the dignity of the Constitution, ought to cite several of these witnesses and their lawyers for contempt. Some lawyers have become specialists in depriving the United States of its defenses against espionage and it would appear to a layman that this is an impropriety.

The latest defensive measure of the subversives and their associates is to propose the abolition of the experienced committees of the Senate and the House in this field, the Jenner Committee, the McCarthy Committee and the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and to substitute in their place a Commission appointed by the President. Experience has shown that several committees are essential so that if one committee becomes inactive or is bogged down in politics, another exists to act. For instance, what is now the McCarthy Committee, the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of the Committee on Government Operations, was totally inactive until Senator McCarthy became its chairman. The field is so broad, no one committee could cover it all.

The proponents of this Commission idea advocate that it, being appointed by the President, have access to all files, including those of the FBI. No Congressional committee has ever claimed or obtained that right. It is doubtful if the Congress will ever grant it. Thus far, the use of files is at the discretion of the President and the Department of Justice. Nothing would please the subversives more than for them to lay their hands on FBI files. All they would need would be to put one girl into such a committee—a clever Communist operative and she would steal every document in those files just as Julius Rosenberg stole the atom bomb.

Before Congress granted such authority to any committee, it ought to put Elizabeth Bentley on the witness stand to tell how her operatives stole documents from every department of Government, except the FBI. Or they might get from Igor Gouzenko the story of how a close assistant to Secretary of State

Stettinius provided Kremlin agents with valuable data. Does Gouzenko refer to Alger Hiss? Up to now, he has said that he did not know the name of that agent. But Elizabeth Bentley, Hede Massing, and Whittaker Chambers did know the name.

Any raid of FBI files by any committee of Congress or any Presidential Commission would be harmful to America and should be opposed actively and effectively.

In this connection, I wish to call attention to "The Rosenberg Case," by Rabbi S. Andhil Fineberg of the American Jewish Committee. In case your bookstore does not carry it, or a clerk hides it, or says it is not in stock, it is published by Oceana Publications, Inc., 43 West 16 Street, New York City.

While Rabbi Fineberg does not give a definitive study of the trial, he does tell all you need to know about the Rosenbergs, their espionage, the trial and the vast anti-American propaganda machine that was established to use this incident to harm our country. This book is exceedingly valuable and should have the widest circulation.

A full record of the Rosenberg Case, as an example of espionage, of which there have been many instances, wholly justifies the existence of these three competitive committees, and many more. The trick proposal to get at the FBI files by means of a Presidential Commission needs to be watched. It is so important a proposal that it seems unbelievable; yet it is being made in all seriousness, and with A. D. A. support. They never stop. Should we?

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

One thing I must say about women, although it is always difficult to speak in generalities about anything.

Women have no sense of humor.

Take my own wife, whom I love very dearly. Sometimes when I return from New York City I tell her a few excruciatingly funny stories I heard at the luncheon table. Most of them I have to clean up a bit, but they are still very funny.

I wait for the laugh. But the wife sits there with a most serious expression on her face as if she were waiting for the punch line. The laugh never comes.

Just before Christmas she was trying to select presents for all her relatives. It was so difficult to decide what to buy for them, she said.

She didn't have much trouble with the female part of the family. They could always use some extra stockings or lingerie.

But it's the men that were bothering her.

One fellow in particular was a terrific problem to her. He is a nephew-in-law, married to her favorite niece. She has never seen the man, since he and his wife live in California and we in the East, and they were not married the last time she was out West.

I told her that I didn't see why she had to send him anything at all. Why wouldn't a nice card addressed to both of them do?

"Why, Popsie," she came back, "don't you remember he sent ME a present last year?"

So I made about 14 or 15 suggestions, but she didn't like any one of them. "Not original enough," was her comment to all of my suggestions.

Finally, I had an idea. The fellow is San Francisco manager of a large Eastern company, so naturally he has a nice office.

"Why don't you give him a pen and pencil set?" I asked. "That would be very nice," she said, "but he probably has a pen and pencil set."

"Not the kind I have in mind,"

I reported. "It's absolutely original. I just read a story from Boston about Charles Wheeler, a shellfish biologist, who recently found some gastropod mollusks on the shore of Noneset Island near Woods Hole on Cape Cod."

"These things are called 'Sea Hares' and are common in the Caribbean and in the tropical waters of Florida and the Carolinas. But since our northern climate is getting warmer all the time, the sea hares are gradually drifting up here."

"The sea hares, when excited, squirt red ink to confuse their enemies. The stuff is real red ink and you can write with it."

So this is what I suggest: "Get a nice gift box (we have dozens of them in the attic) and get a sea hare from Mr. Wheeler. Then get a medium-size squid, the same size as the sea hare (squids come in sizes from one to 75 inches) and put it in the same box. Squids, as everybody knows, squirt black ink when they are alarmed. I have a very nice gold-plated pencil (although it has my bank's name on it) and you have the nicest pen and pencil set you ever saw."

I thought she'd welcome the idea with open arms. Instead, she looked at me with disdain, and bought a really original present for her nephew-in-law—two neckties.

You just can't figure women out. When they should laugh they cry and when they get sore they pout.

One fellow in particular was a terrific problem to her. He is a nephew-in-law, married to her favorite niece. She has never seen the man, since he and his wife live in California and we in the East, and they were not married the last time she was out West.

I told her that I didn't see why she had to send him anything at all. Why wouldn't a nice card addressed to both of them do?

"Why, Popsie," she came back, "don't you remember he sent ME a present last year?"

So I made about 14 or 15 suggestions, but she didn't like any one of them. "Not original enough," was her comment to all of my suggestions.

Finally, I had an idea. The fellow is San Francisco manager of a large Eastern company, so naturally he has a nice office.

"Why don't you give him a pen and pencil set?" I asked. "That would be very nice," she said, "but he probably has a pen and pencil set."

Joe Choate, one of the great lawyers of this day in New York, had a habit of ignoring callers for a few minutes to put them at a disadvantage. He would scribble furiously at his desk and, without so much as looking up, mumble, "Take a seat. Be with you presently." One visitor objected to this casual reception. "I don't think you understand," he declared pompously. "I am Bishop So-and-so's son." "All right," conceded Choate, still not looking up. "Take two seats!"

"Let's be manly," said Frank, "and drink to it."

O'Malley hated city editors almost as much as he loved newspapering. . . . In a burst of misplaced confidence one day his editor told O'Malley he was thinking of retiring. "How'd you like to take my job?" he asked.

Tales of the Town

Midnighters were excited over the report from El Rancho in Las Vegas. On New Year's Eve that spot was "taken" for about $200,000 when a dice-shooter held the dice for an hour and 20 minutes. . . . It recalls the night the Desert Inn (Vegas) lost more than that when a tourist threw 27 passes. . . . The "Right" better professional gamblers cleaned up, but the lucky cube-tosser (who obviously didn't know how to shoot craps) won only $750. . . . "He was a square too," said a witness, "because he was the only man in town who wore a hat!" . . . When he retrieved it from the girl at the door he tipped her a dime.

The El Rancho dealers will miss Countess Di Frasso, who died suddenly. She was a $50 tipper—win or lose.

Harry Babbitt was just in. Said he hated like anything to spoil a column but that he overheard two trees in Central Park complaining about the cold spell. . . . "Ah, Ah! One tree, 'it'll be nice to have Springtime again with all the beautiful foliage."

"Yeah," said the other, "leaf can be beautiful."

John Murray Anderson, producer of "Almanac," was telling how Lee Shubert and his wife spent their last Christmas together in 1952. Before their fireplace burning over half-a-million in IOUs.

Good things come in pairs and this proves it. . . . A waiter named Murray at Rogers Bar on Lexington Avenue recently got a dollar (coin) tip. . . . The party had been there a long while and Murray was miffed because the tip was so puny. . . . But it brought him luck. . . . Showing the silver dollar to another customer he was informed it was a rare coin. . . . A 1920 Plymouth Rock Centennial with a rare edge. . . . a rare-coin collector gave Murray $100 in folding money for it. . . . It wasn't Murray's first meeting with Dame Fortune. . . . Last year he won a hefty prize in the Irish sweeps.

Teddy Rodriguez, the dancer, was first in with this: "The poor get poorer and the rich get Por-firio!"

Eddie Cantor tells the one about the two traveling salesmen in Texas. . . . Their car broke down near a ranch-house. . . . They requested shelter from the occupant. . . . a beautiful gal (who turned out to be a widow living solo) was hospitable. . . . A year later, her lawyer knocked on the office door of one of the salesmen and handed him a legal paper. . . . After the visitor departed, the chap phoned the other salesman. . . . "Remember the night at that ranch-house?" he yelled. "You made love to that doll, didn't you? And you used my name?" . . . "Yeah," giggled the other, "so what?"

"Well," was the retort, "she just died and left ME her ranch and a million dollars!"

Frank Ward O'Malley, the newspaper legend, who turned out some of his best copy when he was sophisticated, threatened to resign many times but never did. . . . Once a copy boy ran into the editor's office and breathlessly said O'Malley was quitting again.

"This time I think he means it," said the b.d. "He just took all the whiskey out of his desk!"

One of O'Malley's pals cornered him at a bar and lectured him for an hour on the evils of drinking. . . . Frank finally agreed to go on the wagon. . . . "Okay," said his pal. "Let's shake on it."

"Let's be manly," said Frank, "and drink to it."

O'Malley hated city editors almost as much as he loved newspapering. . . . In a burst of misplaced confidence one day his editor told O'Malley he was thinking of retiring. "How'd you like to take my job?" he asked.

THE instant you see these 1954 Buicks, you'll know that something sensational has happened in automobile styling.

Here is vastly more than the usual model changeover. Here is vastly more than could be done just by warming over what Buick had before. Here is something accomplished by going far beyond artful face-lifting.

Here is that rarity of rarities—a completely new line of automobiles.

But Buick didn't stop with the bolder, fresher, swifter-lined beauty you see in raised and lengthened fender sweep—in the huge and back-swept expanse of windshield—in the lowered roofline—in the host more glamor features of exterior modernity.

They upped all horsepowers to the highest in Buick history.

They engineered a new V8 for the SPECIAL—and in the process came up with new Power-Head Pistons that boost gasoline mileage in every engine.

BUICK the beautiful buy

They brought to market a sparkling newcomer with a famous name, the Buick CENTURY—a car with phenomenal horsepower for its weight and price—a car with more pure thrill per dollar than any Buick ever built.

And they did all this without change of the price structure which, for years, has made Buick the most popular car at its price in the world.

We invite you to come in and inspect these great beauties, these great performers, these great buys. Then you'll see why the Detroit previewers are already saying, "Buick's the beautiful buy!"

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

Stroudsburg Had No Major Fires In 1953

Stroudsburg passed through 1953 without a major fire, a report submitted to Borough Council by Millard A. Marsh, chief of the Stroudsburg Fire Department, shows.

Best evidence there was no major fires is found in the fact that the average time per fire on 34 fire calls was 41.1 minutes. Total fire-fighting hours were twenty-three and a third.

Chief Marsh said the 34 fires have been classified as:

Four automobiles, eight commercial buildings, 12 dwellings, two electric wiring, six grass and two storage buildings.

Causes, determined after careful investigation, were:

Three auto ignition, one auto accident at bulk oil plant, two broken electric wires, one each car skidding into gas pump, cigarette on car seat, burning grease, defective radio and unknown cause; two each of rubbish near buildings, and painter's blow torch.

Accumulative total of firemen responding to fires was 1,518, or an average of 44.6 men per fire. Total manhours fighting fire were 1,064.

There were 45 Monday night weekly drills with an attendance of 43 men per drill.

Chief Marsh submitted these other accumulative totals of fire department activities:

220 pieces of fire apparatus rolled on the 34 alarms. 14,550 feet of two and a half inch hose were used on 14 fires. 2,900 feet of inch and a half leaderline was used on 12 fires. 1,950 feet of boosterline were brought in play on 11 fires. 465 feet of ladders were raised on seven fires. Five major pumping engine services were required and 14 booster pump services were used.

Fire Chief Marsh praised Bell Telephone Co. and its employees for handling 33 alarms without a single error. The 34th was turned in at the alarm box at the fire house without calling the Bell Telephone Co. for service.

New blood for new babies.

Physicians now are removing practically all of the blood from babies suffering from erythroblastosis fetalis (a blood disorder) and putting in other blood.

The disease is caused by incompatible blood type factors in parents and results in severe anemia and jaundice.

There is a high death rate and survivors are frequently left with serious brain damage.

About ten per cent of cases of cerebral palsy result from brain impairment in erythroblastosis.

When the mother lacks a blood factor that is present in the red cells of her unborn baby she may become immunized to it, and produces antibodies against it.

These antibodies get into the circulation of the unborn infant and attack the blood factor present in its red cells.

The life span of these cells is reduced from 120 days to about six days.

To compensate, the unborn baby's system manufactures new red cells with such abnormal rapidity that a satisfactory concentration cannot be maintained and often the baby dies before birth.

If the baby is born alive, with this condition, the blood abnormality increases unless something is done.

Something is now being done—and an almost complete exchange of blood saves the baby's life and prevents brain damage.

In one hospital, the death rate from erythroblastosis has been

$157 Needed To Meet Goal In Seal Sale

Sales of Christmas Seals totaled $8,321.11 last night as the annual drive nears its end.

Each year the tiny seals are mailed to Monroe County residents by the Tuberculosis and Health Society. Funds gained from money returned by the residents is used by the society to fight active TB and educate the public to the dangers of the disease.

A goal of $8,500 was set by the society this year. With yesterday's total, this leaves $157.89 still to be collected before the 1954 goal will be reached.

At the beginning of the annual drive last November, the Tuberculosis and Health Society mailed out seals to 7,016 county residents. Of this total, only 5,176 persons have answered.

Tuberculosis Society officials last night asked all residents who have not returned their contributions to do so at once.

"Second reminders" were sent out to most of those who have not answered last week.

The horse collar, invented about 1,000 A. D., was a great advance in transport and hauling of loads.

Wyckoff's Department Store Obtains Adjoining Storeroom

By James B. Gaffney

Stroudsburg's A. B. Wyckoff Department Store takes another step forward in its 77-year history soon when renovating of a newly acquired section is completed and its lines of retail merchandise are broadened.

James B. Gaffney

Opening soon will be an addition adjoining the present Main St. building which will house musical instruments and accessories, office equipment and art supplies.

In the past, these three retail lines were available to customers in the rear of the new location. The latest move, however, gives customers access to the departments directly from Main St. All three branches will be increased with stock by virtue of the latest move.

The acquisition of the former Sylvester Jewelry and Music Store space now gives Wyckoff's 150 feet front space.

Both the interior and exterior will be completely remodeled, with work now in progress. Outside will be two large display windows on either side of the entrance, with the front trim to be white woodwork and black porcelain.

New lighting fixtures will be installed inside where Ernest Michelfelder is director of music at East Stroudsburg Methodist Church and has been affiliated with the retail music trade in Stroudsburg 25 years. He started with Stroudsburg Music Co. and was in charge of the music section of Sylvester's until this store closed recently and moved to another Main St. location.

Walter Logan will have charge of picture framing in the new 15 by 50-foot store. Custom framing is his specialty but the store also stocks regular size frames.

In the rear of this store will be an entrance to the hotel supply section, so customers planning on business there also may enter from Main St.

In the music department a complete line of supplies, including reeds, strings, sheet music, will be stocked. The store now handles Lester pianos and will stock other musical instruments.

The end of a retail merchandising career and commencement of a painting life begins in a few months for Peter Mendler, operator of Stroudsburg's Paris Shop, 550 Main St.

Mendler

Mendler said yesterday the lease on his women's apparel store ends March 31, and he and Mrs. Mendler leave May 19 for France where the art career begins in earnest.

In business 30 years, 18 of which was here in Stroudsburg and the other in Bangor, Mendler started painting as a hobby 25 years ago.

Successes in the art field mounted for Mendler and his desire to devote full time to painting will culminate this year.

After reaching France Mendler will study at the Academie Julien in Paris for three months on a teacher-exchange basis, then leave there with Mrs. Mendler and spend nine months touring European countries.

Mendler said he expects to return State-side with a record of his trip in painting.

Called a versatile painter because he uses oils, water colors, pastels and scratch drawings in his work, Mendler is a life member of Art Students League, New York. He holds membership in Lehigh Art Alliance, Kitching Art Group, Pocono Mountains Art Group, is director of Monroe County Community Chest and Council and vice president of the Monroe County Organization of Public Health Nursing.

One of Mendler's outstanding art achievements came last year when he was recognized as tops among 288 artists competing in the National Dairyman's contest.

Mendler's oil painting of "Calif-hood Vaccination" gained honors and later was reproduced in Saturday Evening Post, National Dairyman's magazine, Art News, Christian Science Monitor and many newspapers.

His paintings have been exhibited in museums in Allentown, Harrisburg, Scranton, Lehigh University gallery and Indiana State Teachers College art gallery. He also won recognition in many local contests and has exhibited on a wide scale in this region.

Bank presidents of the area will be guests next Wednesday at Scranton when the Anthracite Conference National Association Bank Auditors and Comptrollers mark President's Night.

Speaker will be William H. Neal, senior vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. Neal was a member of the special U. S. delegation sent to Europe in 1952 by the Defense Department to observe military and economic conditions.

Monroe Garden Club Boards Combine For Steak Luncheon

The executive board of the Monroe County Garden Club for 1953 and the new board for 1954 combined for a luncheon meeting yesterday afternoon at the Elks Club in East Stroudsburg with a steak luncheon served before the business session.

Mrs. Walter Stanard had made the table arrangement which included laurel, barberry, pine and silvered juniper with birds perched on the branches, with hurricane lamps filled with wild bird seed carrying out the theme.

Mrs. Elwood Grant, retiring president, presided at the meeting when final business of 1953 was completed. The board members voted their approval of two resolutions of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Garden Clubs up for referendum. The first would set up 8 districts within the state and region, the second would permit holding the state federation's annual meeting in the fall rather than in the spring.

It was announced that "The News" official publication of the Garden Club of Pennsylvania had given special mention to the 1953 year book of the Monroe County Garden Club, which received an award by the Federation in October. "The News" listed its specific contents of importance including the botanical data about Monroe County, the wild flowers and plantings at Bowman's Hill and the local Wildflower Sanctuary.

An invitation was read to the Mid-Winter Flower Show of the Eastern Region to be held at the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co., on January 18 to 22 from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. A number of members of the Monroe County Club have been invited to serve as hostesses on the opening day by Mrs. Harry A. Fisher Jr., chairman of the Eastern Region.

During the meeting two applicants were voted into membership: Mrs. Leon T. Wilson Jr., of Beartown Road, Canadensis, sponsored by Mrs. A. A. Holbrook, and Mrs. George Ockershausen, of Stroudsburg RD 3, sponsored by Mrs. Oscar J. Liljenstein.

Plans were also discussed for the meeting to be held January 21 when Mrs. O. J. Liljenstein and her staff of officers will be installed. Present for the joint board meeting were: Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. O. J. Liljenstein, Mrs. David Shiffer, Mrs. Harold Lantierman, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, Mrs. Edward Knob, Mrs. Russell Hamblin, Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, Mrs. J. Peters, Mrs. LeRoy Bush, Mrs. Willis Goddard, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Edward Sullivan, Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, Mrs. Ralph Moeck, Mrs. Ray Osborn, Mrs. Walter Stanard, Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, Mrs. Eli Travis, Mrs. W. R. Erickson, Mrs. William Hannas, Mrs. William Michelfelder, Mrs. John Teisher, Mrs. Albert Sommers.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

For a naturally lazy person, there's nothing seems so admirable as the amount of energy which other people are able to put into projects. And there seems to be any amount of energy displayed on the social page today.

You can contemplate the Ladies Aid Society of the Kunkletown church, for instance, which last year quilted 19 quilts and have orders piled up for the year ahead. I can't remember whether that beats the record of the Palestine Class in its prime, or not, but anyway, that's a lot of stitches.

And a lot of things they earned that way, too, with the new freezer and the new refrigerator for the church kitchen and the memorial pew for the church.

The Water Gap Presbyterian Auxiliary has already planned to sew every Tuesday for the summer bazaar, and the Graduate society is going to be making things for their variety sale and the Music Parents of Stroudsburg High are going to make $1,000 right away quick.

And we think we're busy, huh? And if you think you have trouble, how about Mrs. Vernon Wallace, due to entertain her Jolly Janes on Monday, who slipped on the ice Sunday morning and got all bungled up. And did you hear, about S. McDowell's spectacular summersault into the incinerator?

Or how about Tod Williams, who got out of the hospital just before Christmas and then had to pop back in for an appendectomy the first day school opened.

There's a boy I know who says "What's so tough about that? Now if it had happened on vacation—" However, missing school can't make up for feeling so miserable.

To round out our tales of woe—how about the women down in Water Gap who got scared at the snow and sleet Tuesday night and left before the refreshments. Everybody's got their share of trouble and woe, I guess.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

Church Auxiliary Plans Activities For New Year

Delaware Water Gap.—Because of the oncoming ice storm a number of ladies left early Tuesday night when the Presbyterian Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Elam Gray and so missed the strawberry ice cream sundaes, cookies and coffee which their hostess, Mrs. John Wilson Jr. and Mrs. M. E. Leffler served to the guests.

Mrs. George Hauser, president; Mrs. Henry Kulp, secretary; Mrs. Richard Hauser, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. Brodhead, Mrs. Luther Markin, Mrs. Edythe Glebe, Mrs. Ruth Hauser, Mrs. Herbert Baker, Mrs. Richard Carlton, Mrs. Frank Howard, Mrs. Russell Buzzard, Mrs. Bennett Strait, Mrs. H. J. LaBar, Mrs. Francis Drake and Mrs. Robert Clarkson attended.

The meeting was opened by a devotional service during which Mrs. Carlton read a chapter from "Mr. Jones Meets The Master."

Mrs. George Hauser, president, appointed committees: Parsonage, Mrs. Elam Gray and Mrs. John Wilson Jr.; church, Mrs. Russell Buzzard and Mrs. H. J. LaBar; mission, Mrs. Francis Drake; devotions, Mrs. H. W. Brodhead; shut-ins, Mrs. Bennett Strait and Mrs. Edythe Glebe; altar, Mrs. Buzzard and Mrs. Ruth Hauser; January flower committee, Mrs. Richard Carlton and Mrs. Francis Drake; ways and means, Mrs. Herbert Baker; summer fair, Mrs. Luther Markin, Mrs. H. W. Brodhead and Mrs. Elam Gray.

Mrs. Markin and Mrs. Carlton reported preparing eight Christmas baskets for shut-ins. Mrs. Ruth Hauser, chairman of the Christmas spray committee, and the women who filled individual orders for cookies and pastry were able to turn into the treasury over $50.

It was decided that at each meeting an offering box would be ready to receive contributions toward extra projects of Christmas next December. It was also voted to buy storm windows for all the windows of the manse and a storm door.

To prepare for the summer fair, all women of the church are invited to meet each Tuesday night to sew. The first such informal gathering will be at the manse Tuesday night, Jan. 12.

Rev. Luther Markin, pastor of the church, sent a message to the women urging them not to let money matters predominate in their meetings, but to keep the spiritual life supreme.

For the February meeting, the women are invited to the home of Mrs. H. J. LaBar. Mrs. Henry Kulp and Mrs. George Hauser will help on the refreshment committee.

Portland WSCS Honors LaBars, Newlyweds

Portland. The Woman's Society of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church met on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Newton Reimel. Mrs. Reimel read from "The Upper Room."

The society voted to give $5 to the March of Dimes campaign. A gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lahar, newlyweds, from the society, and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Ruth Williams.

Those present were Miss Edith Emery, Mrs. Nick Ervey, Miss Ella Jelinek, Mrs. John Ribble, Mrs. Harry Bellis, Mrs. Harry Farleigh, Mrs. R. W. Beseker, Mrs. Fred Gardner and the hostess.

Kunkletown Aid Society Has Busy Year

Kunkletown. The Ladies Aid Society of the Kunkletown Church looked back on a year of progress at their meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Elsie Derhammer, and elected officers for the coming year.

The yearly report showed that the society had purchased a deep freezer, and electric refrigerator, knives and forks and trays for the church kitchen; and a memorial pew for the church.

The members completed 19 quilts during 1953.

Mrs. Earl Lobach, president, was re-elected for another term. Other officers elected included Mrs. Harvey Smale, vice president; Mrs. Jacob Meekes, secretary; Mrs. Adan Bohner, treasurer; Mrs. Earl Lobach, Mrs. Harvey Smale, flower committee.

The excellent attendance at recent meetings was credited with the amount of work accomplished, and it was announced that there were still many quilts waiting to be quilted.

Those present were Mrs. Earl Lobach, Mrs. Adan Bohner, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. Elsie Derhammer, Mrs. Wilson Christman, Mrs. Howard Christman, Mrs. Jacob Meekes, Mrs. Edwin E. Gower, Mrs. Sula Peters, Mrs. Arsula Borger.

One of the most crowded fields of literary endeavor centers around the art of cooking. If you doubt this, consider the fact that last year dozens of new cook books arrived on the market, authored by senators, actors, housewives, professional dietitians, historians, restaurant owners, and just about everyone else who has ever had occasion to fry an egg.

In addition to all these publisher's editions, there are dozens of mimeographed texts on the market, sponsored by organizations anxious to raise funds. This custom was accepted locally some years ago when a church auxiliary compiled such a book, I believe. Since then the Junior Woman's Club and the Business and Professional have followed suit with equally fine results. And our town is not alone.

The custom has even spread to the North Pole where the children of Shishmaref, Alaska, recently compiled the first Eskimo cook book, a tidy volume containing recipes for such delicacies as Eskimo Ice Cream, made by pouring seal oil over small pieces of grated reindeer tallow and whipping.

Some women make a collection of cookbooks, I am told. If so, this particular volume should delight them. Well over a month ago I determined to have one, and it is finally here—a small, green paper copy of approximately 35 pages, sponsored by the Alaska Crippled Children's Association at Anchorage. A serious little book, it contains recipes for such strange-sounding dishes as Mazze, Meloguidut, and Punmie-yutut.

Accompanying the book is a letter from the children's teacher, Isabelle B. Binghamman, who was highly interested in knowing that the book came to our attention through a United Press release read on the Wyckoff Shopper radio broadcast. The school is no longer in Shishmaref, she reports, but 75 miles north of the Arctic Circle. And why was the book written? Because long ago the Eskimo race was hardy and strong, free of Tuberculosis and similar diseases, and boasting flawless, sound teeth. Then the native food was abandoned in favor of white man's fare, and general health began to deteriorate. Mrs. Binghamman planned her compilation of native recipes to re-awaken the children and their parents to the value of their own normal mode of life.

Cook books definitely have a purpose, but most of us overlook it. We are prone to consider them dedicated simply to the art of making food more tasty and attractive. Actually a good cook book is concerned with much more. It is concerned with the wise spending of the grocery money, the most advantageous use of the staples, the tempting of jaded appetites, and the providing of maximum nourishment. In many books, menus are much more skillfully and thoughtfully planned than they would be by the average housewife.

Yesterday I looked over the cook books for sale in our store. There are quite a number. . . . The Encyclopedia Cook Book, Better Homes and Gardens, and so on, as well as an entire rack of small paper publications dedicated to Pennsylvania Dutch food, or the various ways of preparing one particular item. No home is complete without such a book, and no bride's trousseau should be planned until she's mastered one. As several girls in our cafeteria reported, "I'd rather lose my job than lose my 'Joy of Cooking.'" Undoubtedly our book department can help you in preparing anything from an omelet to pleasant under glass. But if it's Walrus Stew you crave, call on me.

State Commission Sets Opening Dates For Game Season

Small Game Hunt Starts On Oct. 30

Harrisburg, Pa. — The State Game Commission yesterday tentatively set Saturday, Oct. 30, as the date for opening Pennsylvania's small game hunting season.

The commission, at its January meeting, said the length of the season and bag limits will be set at the commission's July meeting.

Other tentative hunting season dates set include: bow and arrow deer season—Oct. 11; antlered deer season—Nov. 29; bear season—Dec. 1.

At the same time the commission reelected its present officers. They are: President, John C. Hornish, Dauphin; vice president, Col. Nicholas Biddle; secretary, Andrew C. Long, Shamokin.

The commission reported it is studying a proposal to close the hare (snowshoe rabbit) season because of a decline in the state's population of that animal. A ruling closing the season would be effective next year.

In other action, the commission voted to make a formal reply to a group of Carbon County sportsmen who petitioned the commission to remove Carl Stainbrook, northeastern division supervisor.

The commission action will not be made public until the sportsmen's group has received the commission reply.

As at last year's January meeting, the commission bypassed setting tentative dates for an antlered deer hunt. The commission usually conducts population and food surveys before making a decision on whether to conduct a deer season.

Mr. Heller,

Editor:

I would like to report to the signers of the petition that requested the repair of the road from Anomink to Meiertown.

This petition was sent to Senator Crowe in August who brought it to Mr. Dinstel's attention in September and again in November.

This is Mr. Dinstel's answer:

Mrs. Mildred Horst

R. D. # 3

East Stroudsburg, Penna.

Dear Madam:

It has again been brought to my attention by Senator Crowe regarding conditions on our Route 45025 between Anomink and Meiertown.

I made a personal inspection of said route 45025 on Tuesday, December 8 and find this route is in fair condition.

Maintaining 492 miles of highways in Monroe County, our attention is directed to the need of maintenance of the various routes rather than being partial to any one route.

It is unfortunate that you do not agree with our patching of roads.

Youth Center Sets Fee For Memberships

The twin-borough Youth Center board of directors held a meeting Wednesday night to set a special one-week membership fee.

According to the decision reached by directors a 30-cent fee will be charged for youths who wish to join the center on a weekly basis.

Directors also discussed methods for raising funds collected from the regular silver donations taken at dances at the center.

An effort will be made this year to encourage more members to attend regular dances, the directors said.

A committee of three directors—President Charles Reid, Robert Hinton and Pat Bartholomew—made a trip to Bangor's "Bee Hive" center to study administration methods there, it was announced.

A square dance will be held at the center, located in the American Legion post home, on Saturday night this week. Dancing begins at 8:30; ends at 11:30 p.m.

James Terrill, East Stroudsburg High School, was appointed to take charge of advertising for the center. Terrill was also given a place on the regular center board.

A Stroudsburg High School student will also be appointed to the center's board of control in another capacity.

An even number of officers from high schools in both boroughs are elected at the beginning of each new school year.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Jim Piersall, colorful outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, visited briefly in Mt. Pocono last Saturday with Father Robert Galigan, long time friend of the brilliant fly chaser. Piersall drove down from Scranton, where he was enroute to Williamsport, where he was booked for a speaking engagement last Sunday. Piersall is busy this season working as a publicity agent for a New England concern and speaking as often as three times a week. He expects to take a brief rest prior to reporting to spring training with the Sox.

Father Galigan, well versed in all types of athletics and reportedly a fine basketball player in college, will be a special guest at next Wednesday's meeting of the St. Matthew's Holy Name Society. Eddie Yost, brilliant third baseman for the Washington Senators, is scheduled to be the speaker for the affair. It is quite possible that a record turnout for a St. Matthew's Holy Name meeting will be on hand to hear Yost, termed by most experts as the best third baseman in the major leagues.

Lake Harmony is having its troubles in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League. According to reports reaching this typewriter the strong contingent has contacted two area schools, hopeful of using one of the courts as an operating base, but on each occasion the team was turned down. As of this writing Lake Harmony was playing all of its games on the road. Last night's contest between Lake Harmony and Johnson's Diner was supposed to be played on the former's home court, but at the last moment was moved to the Pocono High school gym in Tannersville.

Careless parking is becoming a habit at Stroudsburg High during basketball games. One driveway was completely blocked off at Tuesday's tussle between the Mountaineers and Lehigh. On two occasions earlier in the season driveways have been at least partially blocked during games played at the W. Main St. court by the Stroudsburg Poconos and Blue Mountain League rivals. It might be a good idea if some basketball fans would take the other guy into consideration—at least a little bit.

Congratulations certainly are in order today for Fred Gabres, the first soccer star in the history of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College to ever win a position on the number one All-American contingent. This array of talent is chosen by soccer coaches from coast to coast and border to border and being named among the select group is an honor second to none. Gabres, voted to the left fullback post, has given four years of hard play to the Warriors and in the judgement of this scribe has been justly rewarded. It couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

A special bowling event at the Pocono Bowling Center is listed for tonight, with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes. Joe Brown, one of the leading bowlers in the east, is to be the big attraction at the affair. Brown, who appears on television channel 13 from time to time on Sunday, rolled at the Pocono Bowling Center last year. The program will feature both men and women bowlers of this area pitting their skill against Brown. The program is scheduled to get underway at 9 p.m.

It was nice to hear that East Stroudsburg High school is going to treat its own basketball squad to a court attraction at Madison Square Garden later this season. The Cavaliers should be rewarded for their fine play in the recent Lehigh Valley League Invitation Tournament, even though they took it on the chin in a convincing manner at the hands of St. Augustine. The charges of Coach Dick Forster, by winning the runnerup laurels, brought $355.56 into the N. Courtland St. athletic treasury that otherwise wouldn't be there.

Slatington, in winning the tournament, set a new tourney scoring record of 237 points in three games, including 81 against East Stroudsburg. The new mark is one point better than the old record set last season by Lehigh. Merrill Eckhart, Slatington, won the individual scoring championship with 62 points, or an average of 20.6 for three games. East Stroudsburg's Bill Pensyl was second with 54 tallies and Don Herman, co-captain of the Cavaliers, was third with 50 markers. Pensyl averaged 18 points a game and Herman 16.6. Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, East Stroudsburg guard, was 11th on the list with 28 markers or an average of 9.3 per game.

East Stroudsburg scored 168 points in the tourney for an average of 56 markers per ball game. The Cavaliers allowed the opposition 167 points for an average of 55.6 tallies. Don Shekder, Jerry Rothermel and Dick Koch, three Lehightown cagers who caused plenty of trouble for Stroudsburg the other night, were also among the leading scorers in the recent tournament, with 42, 25 and 23 points, respectively. Shekder averaged 14 points a game.

Grand Theater Overcomes Bad Start To Nip Portland

Merring, Staples Tops In Offense

Portland — Grand Theater recovered from a near-fatal first quarter here at the Portland School last night to score a 55-46 victory over Portland in a Blue Mountain League basketball game.

The East Stroudsburg quintet took 26 shots at the basket during the first 10 minutes of play and failed to register a field goal. Both of the Grand Theater points came from the foul line in the opening round.

Portland jumped off to a 13-2 lead at the end of the first quarter, but the Grand Theater began to find the range in the second period and trailed by only a one point margin at halftime, 20-19. The visiting five dominated the second period, 17-7.

Grand Theater continued to hold the upper hand the remainder of the distance, dominating the third round, 14-7, to assume a six point lead, and then made certain of victory with a 22-19 bulge in the last stanza.

Foul Shooting
The East Stroudsburg club made good on nine of 22 foul shots, while Portland rang the bell on 12 of 21 occasions from the same distance.

Possession basketball finally won for the Grand Theater.
Harold "Hair" Staples and Dick Merring led the winning attack with 16 and 14 points respectively, with Merring scoring almost all of his points in the last quarter. Dick Shuster and Kelly led the Portland attack with 12 and 13 tallies respectively.

Grand Theater entertains the Stroudsburg Poconos on the East Stroudsburg High school court today, at 8 p.m.

The Poconos will put a record of six wins and two defeats on the line, while the Grand Theater at the present time is boasting a mark of four wins and three setbacks.

Greene-Dreher Meets Waymart

Newfoundland — Greene-Dreher-Sterling High School will lift the lid on its portion of the Wayne County Conference tonight while playing host to its old basketball jinx, Waymart.

The junior varsity outing will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the varsity tilt one hour later.

Injury
Greene-Dreher will try to snap its jinx against Waymart without the services of Bob Lupcho, leading scorer of the club who pulled ligaments in his right ankle during practice session and will be forced to the sidelines for at least three weeks.

Coach Henry "Hank" Arneberg, whose hopes were high to turn the tables on the Warriors, is now faced with the prospect of revamping the team that scored five wins in seven exhibition outings. Art Frey, who has the height but lacks experience, will probably get the nod to replace the injured Lupcho.

Ban Lifted On Beshore, Murphy

Washington (AP) — The National Boxing Association yesterday lifted suspensions imposed on heavyweight Freddy Beshore and light-heavyweight Irish Bob Murphy.

Retired List
The two were placed on the NBA's retired list in November "for the good of boxing."

Amoco Quintet Defeats A.C.

Jack Anthony and Jim "Red" Makosky combined to lead Johnson's Amoco to a 58-51 victory over Eastburg A.C., on the East Stroudsburg High School basketball court last night.

Big Guns
Anthony and Makosky each scored 20 points, as Johnson's club moved into the front running spot in the second period and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

Catasauqua Places Perfect League Record On Line Against Stroudsburg High Tonight

A cage machine undefeated in Lehigh Valley League play will clash with a victory hungry quintet tonight when Catasauqua invades the home court of Stroudsburg High.

Catasauqua won its only Lehigh Valley League outing last Tuesday by a 56-54 count over Palmerton in an overtime battle.

Stroudsburg's lone outing against league opposition also went into overtime before Lehightown came up with a favorable verdict, 62-58.

Tonight's clash could develop into a defensive battle, a rarity in this age of "souped up" basketball, as the Rough Riders will invade the W. Main St. gymnasium heralded as one of the best defensive clubs in the circuit.

Stroudsburg will put an overall record of two wins and three defeats on the line against the brown and white clad invader.

Coach John Kupiec, discouraged over the loss to Lehightown but hopeful of better things to come, announced last night that he would start the same team against Caty that answered the opening whistle against Lehightown.

This means that Don Deibler and Dave Nevil will be at forward positions, while big Dick Little anchors the squad at center. Captain Karl Weingartner and Don Garaventi will handle the guard positions.

Kupiec also announced that Doug Shook has been brought up to the varsity from the junior varsity and that Francis "Sonny" Deibler had taken Shook's place on the yearling squad.

It was also pointed out by the likeable Stroudsburg coach that such varsity men as Shook, Howard Miller, Bill Carson and Wally Adelmann would see more action than in the past.

Tonight's junior varsity game is scheduled to begin at 6:45 and the main event at approximately 8 p.m.

Johnson's Diner Rallies To Decision Lake Harmony, 57-53

Tannersville — Johnson's Diner ran its victory string to two straight games in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last night with a 57-53 verdict over Lake Harmony, here on the Pocono High School court.

Johnson's club won on top of the standings with a mark of two favorable decisions and no defeats. Last night's loss was the first of the infant campaign for Lake Harmony, a team with one victory to its credit.

Sharon Peechatka and Harry Warner paced the winning attack with 23 and 16 points respectively. Warner also virtually controlled both the offensive and defensive backboards for the winning aggregation.

Scoring
Lake Harmony stepped out to a 14-11 lead at the end of the first period, but Johnson's club rallied to dominate the second stanza, 13-5, and reach the halfway mark on the long end of a 24-19 count.

The visiting Lake Harmony crew bounced right back into the lead at the three-quarter mark, 41-37, with a 22-13 spread in the third round. The host quintet, not to be denied, tallied 20 points in the last 10 minutes of play while holding Lake Harmony to 12, to win by a margin of four points.

Johnson's Diner made only five of 22 foul shots, while Lake Harmony craved the cords on nine of 16 shots from the same distance.

Every member of the Lake Harmony team broke into the scoring column, with Swartz leading the way on the strength of 17 markers.

Campanella To Receive Award

New York (AP) — Catcher Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday was chosen for one of the six awards given by the sports lodge of B'nai B'rith for "high principle and achievement in sports" during 1953.

Dinner
The two-time winner of the National League's most valuable player prize will be honored by the lodge at its annual dinner January 24.

Surprise
Blackburn's selection as the third head coach in the 25-year history of professional football here came as a surprise. Rumors had circulated, since Ronzani's forced resignation in late November with two games remaining on the National Football League year-old coach would be paid slightly under $20,000 annually. His salary at Marquette, where two years remained on a five-year contract, was less than $10,000.

Gray's Cagers Win Over Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna — Gray's Chevrolet evened its Pocono Mountains Basketball League record at one victory and the same number of defeats last night by taking the measure of Tobyhanna, 84-65, here on the Coolbaugh High court.

Gray's five rolled into the lead in the first period and held the upper hand the remainder of the distance, although both clubs battled to a 13-13 draw in the second period.

The visiting five led 35-23 at the halfway mark and kept rolling in the second half.

Both clubs went on a scoring binge in the last period, with the visiting five on the long end of a 32-28 count.

Tobyhanna made good on 17 of 24 foul shots, while Gray's five connected on 16 of 27 charity tosses.

Lyle Krall led the winning attack with 23 points, while Glen Woodling and Al Bartholomew each contributed 15 to the cause.

Secor was the big gun for Tobyhanna with 16 tallies.

Los Angeles Open Starts

Los Angeles (AP) — Golf's rich winter tournament trail opens today when a field of 150 or more players, led by defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, tees off in the $20,000 Los Angeles Open.

Green Bay, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers reached into the collegiate football coaching ranks yesterday for a successor to Gene Ronzani and came up with Lisle "Liz" Blackburn, who just completed his fourth year as head coach at Marquette University.

Terms of the three-year contract Blackburn signed at Cincinnati with Packer General Manager Verne Lewellen were not revealed, but sources close to the front office here disclosed the $4-year-old coach would be paid slightly under $20,000 annually. His salary at Marquette, where two years remained on a five-year contract, was less than $10,000.

Surprise
Blackburn's selection as the third head coach in the 25-year history of professional football here came as a surprise. Rumors had circulated, since Ronzani's forced resignation in late November with two games remaining on the National Football League schedule, that a "name" coach was being sought. The coaches of two teams in New Year's Day bowl games reportedly turned down offers of $30,000 annually to take over as Packer pilot.

Speculation on Blackburn's successor at Marquette centered on George Terlep, '31, who made his debut as backfield coach last fall. A former Notre Dame and Great Lakes Naval Training Station star, Terlep had held similar posts at Vanderbilt and South Carolina.

The Barbers moved into a three-point lead at the end of the first period and held the upper hand throughout the ball game, outscoring Penn-Dell in every period.

Jack Sommers, guard for Frank's Barbers, led the scoring for all four teams involved with 16 points.

Pocono Pines — Williams Pharmacy, originally listed as Pocono Lake in the Pocono Mountains League standings, rolled to a 74-43 victory over West End here on the Tobyhanna Township High School court last night.

Trabert, Head Advance To Final Round

Adelaide, Australia. (AP)—American's Tony Trabert and Australia's Lewis Hoad, yesterday advanced to the finals of the South Australia tennis championships to set up a Saturday rematch of their exciting five-set duel in the Davis Cup challenge round.

Trabert won easily over Australia's Ken Rosewall in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2, just as he had done when they met in the Cup matches.

Rally

Hoad had to stage a great rally to defeat Rex Hartwig, the defending champion, after losing the first two sets, by 4-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 6-2.

The double finals, an all-Australian affair, between Rosewall and Hoad and Hartwig and Mervyn Rose will be played today with the singles finals tomorrow.

National Collegiate Athletic Association Outlines 1954 Football Television Situation

By Hugh Fullerton Jr., Cincinnati (AP)—You may get a little less college football on television next fall, and you may get just the games you want to see. But in general you'll get just about what was offered last season—with different teams.

The pattern for 1954 was outlined yesterday when the 1953 television committee presented its final report and recommendations at a round-table discussion that was devoid of verbal fireworks.

There were only a few objections to the recommendations, which called for substantially the same restrictions on football TV to be continued. Most of the comment was to the effect that some sort of rigid controls must be continued, preferably on a national basis.

The committee's report, a 56-page mimeographed document, will be acted upon at the NCAA business session today.

On the basis of the round table discussion, there was every indication that the broadly-worded recommendations will be quietly passed on to the incoming committee.

The TV meeting, which in past years has produced some fiery debates, was so quiet it hardly interfered with the hotel lobby activities of the coaches seeking jobs and athletic directors seeking coaches. And there were more rumors than facts to be heard around the lobbies.

The principal points included in the resolution prepared by the TV committee were: The one-appearance rule should be continued. That efforts should be made to increase the number of colleges and the areas of the country represented. That delayed and subscription TV plans should be investigated carefully. It also suggested a serious consideration of the value of "sell-out, exceptions" which, it said, "have created difficulties in past seasons."

Under previous NCAA plans, colleges could get permission to televise locally games at which sellouts were assured if there were no competing games in the territory. The report indicated that even the few allowed had some adverse effects on gate receipts and there were unfavorable public reactions when permission was denied.

The resolution was carefully worded so it would not make any of the recommendations binding on the 1954 committee.

Four Scouts Honored At Water Gap

Delaware Water Gap—Three Boy Scouts won merit badges and one advanced in rank at a recent Court of Honor here in the newly acquired meeting room over Scoutmaster Henry Kulp's garage.

Cited for merits were James Howard, five badges for citizenship at home, community, nation and home repairs and swimming; Dennis Smolak, swimming and Gordon Akers, home repairs.

Ronald Hermance was advanced to Second Class Scout.

Russell Buzzard, advancement chairman presented the awards, assisted by Henry and John Kulp. The ceremonies marked the combined meeting of Boy Scouts and Cubs. The latter group presented their parents with Christmas gifts. Other presents were exchanged and refreshments served.

Present were 14 cubs and scouts, and Mr. and Mrs. Buzzard, Mr. and Mrs. Akers, Mrs. Herman Snyder, Mrs. John Chamberlain, Mrs. Lewis Ace, Walter Bryfogle, cub master, Mrs. Herbert Baker, Miss Harriet Carlton, Mrs. Henry Kulp, and Philip and Ann Chamberlain.

The 40-hour week has been established as standard in only two countries—the United States and New Zealand.
